• PROFILE

I'm focused on transforming data into clear, actionable insights that support informed decisions and business growth. I analyze datasets with attention to accuracy, patterns, and trends across different sources and formats. My approach combines data cleaning, visualization, and reporting to uncover insights that solve real problems and improve efficiency. I pay close attention to details like data integrity, presentation, and interpretation to ensure meaningful outcomes. My goal is to contribute to analytics projects that enhance performance, strengthen strategy, and deliver measurable results through data-driven solutions.
